Ticiana Alencar

CALL 2026

Ticiana read History and Politics at the University of Oxford, Lincoln College, and completed a LLM in Public Law and Democracy at Université Paris-Panthéon-Assas, for which she was awarded an Entente Cordiale Scholarship by the French Embassy in the UK.

Before joining Devereux, Ticiana gained substantial experience in politics working for Jeremy Hunt when he was Chancellor of the Exchequer. She also worked in a think tank as a Policy Researcher.

When doing her law conversion, Ticiana gained advocacy experience with The School Exclusion Project, and through mooting.
